THESE ARE THE PEOPLE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD

Larry Gwin was 3 when he moved from Oklahoma to Michigan. He went back every summer until he was 16, where he worked on his Uncle's farm. They raised 30,000 chickens every 8 weeks, which they sold. He also helped with the cattle, pigs and horses. Larry used to go into town and watch the old-timers whittle in front of the general store. When he was 16, he moved into LOHA. He water-skied behind classic speedboats. He was in the LOHA teen club. The club helped lay the concrete in front of the weenie shack. The date is on the concrete. He moved out of LOHA for several years, but moved back in 1976 with his wife, Sharon. They reared 2 daughters here, Stephanie and Rebecca. The girls enjoyed living in the sub and particularly using the beach. Larry was an avid snowmobiler and loved snowmobiling in the Upper Peninsula. Once he fell through the ice in Lake Oakland with Rebecca, age 11, on the back of the snowmobile. The ice kept breaking and after numerous attempts, Larry finally got her out by throwing her out onto thicker ice. The fascination with Oklahoma's woodcarvers led Larry to start woodcarving 17 years ago, even before he retired from GM's welding lab in 2001. He now spends his time enjoying his passion, woodcarving, in the garage all year long. He also helps deliver the LOHA Newsletters and flyers. He enjoys spending time with his grandsons, Jordan (15) and Austin (3). Larry's woodcarvings are one-of-a-kind, beautiful and unique. The majority of his carvings are Christmas figures. He has sold his pieces in a variety of places including Canterbury Village. If you are interested in seeing some of his work, he will be at St. Joseph's Craft Show in the school gym on Saturday, November 21st from 10:00am - 4:00pm and on Sunday, November 22nd from 10:00am - 3:00pm. St. Joseph's is located at 703 N. Lapeer Rd., 7 miles from the Palace.
